Factsheet jobMAN

BoSch Data

BoSch Data GmbH is a certified Microsoft Dynamics partner, offering various solutions for Microsoft Dynamics Business Central. The applications range from individual modules/applications to large solution packages in the areas of soil, building materials and commodities/shipping. The development was focused on good usability for the users. New functions extend the scope of existing solutions or create new possibilities for the user.

BoSch Data – jobMAN App

jobMAN extends project management in Microsoft Dynamics™ Business Central® with greater visibility across budgets, usage, and billable values. Additional time and quantity information helps users track project performance faster and more accurately.

The app connects sales and supply chain processes directly with the project module, so users can transfer sales-related services straight into projects. Flexible billing models also support project task creation during service entry, enabling a streamlined and practical project workflow.

An optional installation extension turns projects into installation projects with dedicated documents, calculations, and installation orders. jobMAN also supports X86 GAEB import, subcontractor assignment, and separate project-specific calculations for added flexibility.
